Gina Pisoni

Consultant | J in Motion Consulting Group

Gina Pisoni is an executive technology and capital projects leader with more than 15 years of experience delivering major healthcare infrastructure redevelopment and digital transformation initiatives.

She partners with health authority executives, clinicians, and delivery teams from early business-case development through design, construction, activation, and handover to operations — translating ambitious capital investments into technology and facilities that are ready to deliver care.

Gina is known for building high-performing teams, aligning diverse stakeholders around a common delivery plan, and building governance and team structure to bring large, complex programs through to their full intended vision.
